Central Bank of Belize Clarifies No Partnership with EnergyX Energy Systems (EXE)

Belize City, Belize, 25 November 2026: The Central Bank of Belize (the Central Bank) advises the public that it has not entered into any cooperation agreement, partnership, arrangement, or other relationship with EnergyX Energy Systems (EXE).

The Central Bank has received reports of messages circulating on social media and messaging platforms that reference an alleged "cooperation agreement" between EXE and the Central Bank. These messages suggest that the Central Bank is participating in or supporting payments, settlements, withdrawals, or related financial services involving this entity.

The Central Bank wishes to make it unequivocally clear that these representations are false.

The Central Bank has not authorised EXE to use its name, or the name of any of its officers, its logo, reputation, or regulatory standing in connection with any investment opportunity, business activity, payment arrangement, cryptocurrency-related activity, or public solicitation.

The Central Bank further reminds the public that persons and entities conducting regulated financial activities in or from within Belize may be required to obtain appropriate licensing, registration, or authorization under applicable laws.

Individuals should exercise caution when considering any opportunity that:

- Promises earnings or returns that are unusually high or cannot be independently verified;
- Requires the deposit or transfer of cryptocurrency or other digital assets;
- Relies on recruitment of new participants;
- Restricts, delays, or suspends withdrawals, or redemptions;
- Uses early payouts to create a false appearance of legitimacy;
- Claims support from government agencies, regulators, financial institutions, or public authorities without verifiable confirmation.

If approached by any organisation with an investment opportunity, individuals are encouraged to exercise due diligence before committing funds or providing personal financial information. This includes independently verifying claims of regulatory approval or support and seeking professional advice where necessary.

The Central Bank remains committed to promoting the stability of the monetary and financial systems and encourages the public to exercise due diligence in matters concerning financial activities.
